Audio Visual (AV)

As technology becomes more commonplace, it's important that schools benefit from the latest the industry has to offer. The right tech can help hold attention spans, save time, allow for new resources and learning experiences and help excite the classroom for all involved. Most importantly, it might not be as expensive as you might think.

At Atomwide we strive to fulfil a school's every IT requirement, and as the classroom becomes more digital, we're delighted to now be able to offer a suite of quality audio visual products from affirmed brands, all underpinned by our leading customer service and support.
